

French Couple Saved From Raft Off Australia

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — After three months shipwrecked on a tropical island and three days at sea on a submerged water-logged raft, Henri Bourdens told his wife he was sorry but he was going to die.

"I asked him: 'Please wait for me, we must go together,' and he said he would try to live one more day," Mrs. Bourdens said today.

By the end of that day — Saturday — the ketch Betty Jane had rescued the French couple whose yacht was wrecked by a cyclone on the shores of Bathurst Island in late December.

Mrs. Bourdens said that on Saturday, her husband's face looked like that of a dying man — "white despite his sunburn" — but he "was just cooing with his chin on the water when I saw that mirage — but it was not a mirage, it was a boat."

The raft's deck was under three feet of water and "two people" looking more like strange wild animals were sticking out of the water," a crewman of the Betty Jane said.

The Betty Jane was en route to Darwin, 75 miles south of where the raft was found.

Alerted by his wife, Bourdens set off a smoke bomb to catch the Betty Jane's attention, and it nearly scared the boat away.

The crew first thought the raft was an artillery target but then decided to investigate.

From his hammock in Darwin, Bourdens called the three-month ordeal "a foretaste of hell."

His wife said they built the raft when they were certain they were dying of starvation.

"We lived on sea snails for most of the two months after the food from the yacht ran out — except for one small kangaroo shot by Henri," Mrs. Bourdens said.

"That was the most wonderful meal ever. We roasted it on a spit and I made wallaby tail soup," she said. "That recipe will sell for a thousand dollars but nobody will want it because they would have to be hungry like us to appreciate it."

She said three days they spent in a mangrove swamp on the island were the most terrifying of her life. For a while, they were trapped up to the waist in stinky water and often heard animals fighting around them, she added.

They saw crocodiles and "hundreds of snakes, sometimes wrapped together like huge worms."

She saw her husband sink to his shoulders in mud and thought he was lost in quicksand.

One night they scooped out a turtle nest and slept in it for warmth.

After they built the raft, Mrs. Bourdens wrote a long letter to their two children in France.

"I wanted them to know what had happened to us and I cried all the time I wrote it," she said.

On the raft, she ate up in water when they were sitting. "We never saw a plane or a boat, we saw nothing but the sea," said Mrs. Bourdens. "It seemed there was nothing else to do but wait for the will of God and hope He would be merciful."

"Then those wonderful men of the Betty Jane came to us and we were aboard."

The couple were trying to sail to France on a 45-foot yacht. Bourdens had bought in Singapore. Hampered by water in their fuel, they tried to steer for the island of Timor but ended up 300 miles to the south, shipwrecked in an uninhabited area of Bathurst Island. They didn't know that a Roman Catholic mission was 40 miles away on the other side of the island.

Bourdens, a former airline pilot and author of several books, said as soon as they are able, they will try to resume the voyage. The wrecked yacht was not insured, they said.

Party Leaders Seek Acceptable Tax Compromise

LANSING (AP) — Republican and Democratic senators go back to the fiscal drawing boards Tuesday to try to reach an acceptable middle ground on Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program.

Romney's income tax bill was defeated last week and sent to senate committee along with his seven other fiscal reform bills for further study.

Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Harry DeMaseo, R-Battle Creek, says the three Republican and two Democratic committee members will begin by taking a look "at how the Republicans and Democrats want to proceed with the bills."

"We'll lay it right out on the table and see what is proposed in hopes in 10 days or two weeks we can whip something together and get it back on the Senate floor," he adds.

The income tax bill failed to receive the necessary 20 votes for passage when six Republicans joined 17 Democrats in opposing it, leaving only 14 of Romney's fellow Republicans to cast "yes" votes.

The Republicans on the committee must work out a package that will be acceptable to all 20 Senate Republicans or get together with the Democrats to come up with a compromise.

The second possibility apparently is the only road open.

Revolutionary War Tombstones Vandal Targets

SPOTSWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Vandals attacked a historic Middlesex church yard cemetery Sunday for the second time in two weeks, overturning 36 tombstones and demolishing some dating back to the Revolutionary War.

The Rev. Canon J. Perry Cox, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, estimated damages at the 211-year-old cemetery would run about $10,000.

A dozen tombstones including those of the first three pastors of the church were demolished. Five tombstones had been overturned at St. Peter's two weeks ago.

Canon Cox said the church would replace the stones.

Teamster Bargaining Deadlocked On Wages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances for a settlement that would head off a strike pitting the Teamsters Union against the nation's trucking industry were less than promising today.

As they returned to negotiations with industry bargainers, the Teamster leaders were armed with a vote from the members putting in their hands the decision to call a strike.

The negotiations, covering 450,000 workers in 12,000 trucking firms, by now center on money issues. The employers and the union are believed still to be far apart.

The talks recessed at 2 a. m. today and were to resume at an unscheduled hour.

A nationwide vote of Teamsters trucking locals was overwhelmingly in favor of striking if there is no settlement.

The union's announced strategy would be to strike only a few major firms, but spokesmen for 1,500 major companies represented by Trucking Employers Inc. have threatened to shut down all TEI firms if any are struck.

After the third straight night of all-night sessions, the talks reportedly were snagged over wages. The union's last reported demand was 56 cents per hour over a three-year contract. The industry's last known offer was 37 cents.

Many other issues, including increased per-mile pay for long-distance drivers, health and welfare benefits, and new equipment demanded by the union are also involved.

Federal mediators are participating in the negotiations.

The votes by which locals across the country authorized the union bargainers to call a strike if necessary included these lopsided totals: 1,991 to 119 by Local 41 of Kansas City, 563 to 19 by Local 414 in Fort Wayne, Ind., and 660 to 24 by Local 443 in New Haven, Conn.

In many cities exact totals were not disclosed but union spokesmen said the margin was 10 or more to 1.

Aussie Cruiser Bombs Cong Assembly Point

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. military headquarters today announced two new major ground sweeps — including the biggest operation so far by Australian forces in Vietnam — aimed at steadily increasing the pressure on Communist units.

The U.S. command said 19 ground actions are currently under way seeking out Communist units from the highlands to the marshes of the Mekong Delta. But only scattered contact was reported, with 60 to 65 of the enemy killed.

The U.S. command also said the Australian guided missile cruiser Hobart, which joined allied forces off the coast last Friday, shelled a Viet Cong assembly point below Quang Tri City. It was the first offshore bombardment by an Australian ship in the Vietnamese war.

The biggest U.S. ground operation of the war, Operation Junction City in Tay Ninh Province near Cambodia, continued to run into significant numbers of Viet Cong troops in the area where a Red regiment last killed 581 men last Friday and Saturday.

The Australian ground sweep began March 21 but was kept under security wraps until Monday. It numbers perhaps 4,000 men, including U.S. soldiers, under Australian command.

The heaviest ground fighting today was by troops of the South Korean Tiger Division who killed 16 Viet Cong in a sharp fight in Phu Yen Province on the coast.

Union Calls TV Eight-Year-Old Offer: 'Insult'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three television-radio networks settled down to a lengthening strike siege today after union leaders stalked out of negotiations branding as "insulting" a contract offer for newscasters.

"You bet your life," chief union negotiator Donald Conway said when asked if he was walking out of the talks called by federal mediators.

"The networks regret that the union has decided to terminate these discussions," said NBC Vice President George Fuchs, who also spoke for CBS and ABC.

There was no indication after the blowup when further talks might be set between the networks and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists in the six-day-old strike.

The networks first offered $300 per week plus a percentage of commercial fees for newscasters. The union is demanding $235 a week and a higher percentage of bonus commercial fees.

"This is more regressive and more insulting than the first offer," Conway said, without disclosing details of the new proposal.

Negotiators for both sides returned to New York after the fruitless two-day negotiating sessions called here by the chief federal mediator, William E. Skolnik.

Asked if the breaking off of the talks meant a longer strike, Conway said, "we will strike to the utmost of our capabilities" until reaching a "fair and acceptable" agreement.

The strike, in addition to blocking out such nationally known TV newsmen as David Brinkley of NBC and Walter Cronkite of CBS also has forced the networks to use taped shows in place of some live ones and reruns of some old programs.

It caused late changes on three news interview programs Sunday when Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd and the former ambassador to India, John Kenneth Galbraith, each refused to cross picket lines.

Former Under-Secretary of State George W. Ball, appearing from Paris, substituted for Rusk on a special edition of NBC's "Meet the Press." ABC's "Issues and Answers" used a taped interview with Thanet Khomman, foreign minister of Thailand, in place of Boyd. Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., replaced Galbraith on "Meet the Press."

Although the wage dispute involves only newsmen and announcers, many performers who belong to the same union are observing picket lines.

Challenger For Mayor Is Foe Of MRA Group

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — Residents of this tiny resort island at the head of Lake Huron go to the polls today in an election reflecting a long-smoldering feud between islanders and Moral Re-Armament.

The mayoral race pits Eugene (Chester) O'Brien, running as a self-proclaimed anti-MRA candidate, against incumbent Mayor Ray Smith.

O'Brien, a 75-year-old retired carriage driver and railroadman, is forthright when asked about his political position.

"I'm running against MR-A, that's what," he says. "They're taking over the island. Mackinac Island should belong to the islanders."

MR-A is a worldwide anti-Communist organization which stresses moral rebirth, especially among youth, was founded in 1921 by the late Frank N.D. Buckman, a Lutheran minister.

The organization first purchased property on the island in the 1940s, but turned its 21-acre holdings, valued at $6.5 million, over to Mackinac College, an institution founded by MR-A backers last year.

MR-A's ideology advocates adherence to and practice of four principles: "Absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute unselfishness and absolute love."

Not Against 'Em

"I can't say I'm for 'em, but I'm certainly not against 'em," says Smith, 76, a veteran of 20 years in island government and boiler room attendant at MR-A headquarters. "They are a group of dedicated people."

Smith said he doesn't openly court the MR-A vote, but he says he doesn't discourage it either.

O'Brien, like his father and grandfather before him, was born and reared on the island. He charges that the college is buying up property on the island and taking it off the tax rolls.

"It's strangulation by taxation, that's what," says O'Brien.

The college, tax exempt as an educational institution, pays a $20,000 to the island government as a donation. MR-A instituted the original practice. But O'Brien argues the property is worth far more in actual taxes.

Walter Chaffee, a spokesman for the college, said only three parcels of land, totaling less than one acre, have been purchased by the college. He said it would be used for faculty housing and kept on the tax rolls.

Employes Islanders

Chaffee says the college has invited islanders to use its facilities and plants out that it employs 50 islanders.

"Our payroll goes into the island economy," he said, adding that the college has "purchased" physical education instructors to the island school. But islanders long have resented "being improved by changes they don't want. They prefer the rustic quality of the summer resort, including the ban on motor vehicles."

O'Brien says he doesn't want to force the college to pay taxes, but wants to get the MR-A out of island government.

150 Absentee Ballots

"I won't make them pay taxes," he said. "But I won't give them any services. We don't need their taxes. Just get them out of the city administration."

Chaffee denied that MR-A controls the government, saying

Hearing Tuesday: Teamsters Union Charges City Is Unfair To Police

The City of Escanaba has refused to recognize Teamsters Union Local 328 as the bargaining agent for its police officers, the Union (which legally represents the police) charges the city is engaged in unfair labor practices, and the Michigan Labor Mediation Board will give the charges a hearing in Escanaba on Tuesday.

James R. McCormick, Mediation Board trial examiner, will conduct the hearing that is scheduled to open at 10 a.m. in the Court House.

Back of the dispute are elements that have far-reaching significance throughout Michigan and in other states as well. The controversy has received public attention and editorial treatment in the metropolitan press - of the Middle West.

Teamsters Win Vote

The City of Escanaba position basically challenges Michigan's Public Act 379 as it applies to union representation of the city's police officers.

Act 379 permits public employees to become members of unions and to have a union represent them for purposes of bargaining on wages and working conditions.

Escanaba's police officers voted to have Teamsters Local 328 represent them in an election supervised by the Michigan Labor Mediation Board, after a hearing in which Municipal Employees Union Local 68 claimed it had represented the police officers in the past.

The city next refused to recognize the Teamsters as the agent for the police, and under the date of Feb. 7 the Teamsters filed a charge of "unfair" labor practices with the Labor Mediation Board against the city. The complaint was signed by George Dunlap, business agent for Teamsters Local 328 of Escanaba.

Union Files Complaint

"Since on or about Nov. 25, 1966, the City of Escanaba has interfered with, restrained and coerced its employees in the exercise of their rights to engage in lawful, concerted activity and to join and assist labor organizations," as permitted by law, the Teamsters charge.

Since on or about the same date the city has also "refused to bargain in good faith with the duly certified labor organization (Teamsters)," the union charges.

The City of Escanaba will be represented at the hearing on Tuesday by City Attorney John G. Erickson and Atty. Leonard Keller of Detroit.

City's Position

The City Council in refusing to recognize the Teamsters as bargaining agents for city policemen believes:

1. - Police should not belong to unions other than strictly fraternal organizations because of a conflict of interest; and

2. - Police sergeants (there are four in the department) are "command officers" and should not be in union ranks.

In a statement, the city position is described thus:

"We feel that the best interests of the community could not be served, and in fact would be placed in jeopardy if we were to pursue any other course of action," than to challenge the legality of the Act that has brought police officers into private union ranks.

The City is hopeful that eventually the question will reach the Supreme Court for final determination.

Msgr. Bassett Leaving Garden

The Very Rev. R. J. Bassett, rector of Marygrove Diocesan Retreat House at Garden for the past 17 years has been granted a leave of absence from the diocese of Marquette for missionary work in the diocese of Springfield-Cape Girardeau, Missouri.

Monsignor Bassett has been associated with Marygrove and the retreat movement since 1950. Well known throughout the area for his enthusiasm for this specialized apostolate, Father Bassett has seen the retreat movement grow from infancy to a well organized and successful apostolate. Marygrove has been accommodating over 1,700 retreatants annually in the last few years.

Monsignor Bassett's work in the Missouri diocese will be mostly in the nature of help in parishes where pastors have not been able to get away for vacations. There are only 62 diocesan priests for an area of 25,000 square miles and a population of 850,000 people. This is only a temporary leave of absence. Very likely he will accept a parish assignment back in the diocese of Marquette in the future, he said. He leaves April 10.

GMC Issues Truck Recall

PONTIAC (AP) — Owners of 67 medium duty 1967 model GMC trucks are being asked to bring the vehicles to dealers for replacement of the hydraulic brake master cylinder. GMC's Truck & Coach Division said here.

The firm said a master cylinder assembly with a smaller bore will be installed in the trucks to reduce foot pressure required to make the brakes stop the vehicles.

"The action is taken as a precautionary measure," GMC said. "No accidents have been reported as a result of the condition."

Marquette C-C To Hear McGoff At Annual Meet

The annual meeting of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce, postponed due to the Upper Peninsula inauguration, is to be held at noon on Thursday, April 20. Theme for the annual affair will be "A Salute to the Air Force."

John McGoff of East Lansing, president of the Panax Corp., will be the speaker on "An Outsider Looks at Marquette." Panax owns the Mining Journal, the Escanaba Daily Press and the Iron Mountain News.

A new Chamber program will be inaugurated at the meeting in which outstanding airmen from K. I. Sawyer will be saluted. This program will be held in Marquette quarters.

The luncheon will be held at the Northwoods Supper Club. Seating is limited to 240 and reservations should be called to the Chamber of Commerce office.

Cost Difference

BOSTON (AP) — Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of Rochester, N.Y., told a meeting of the New England Conference the Catholic Hospital Association should be asking questions about "having the vow of poverty and charging (a patient) $25 or $30 a day." "We are not different in cost. We ought to be, somehow," he said.

Extinction Is Feared

Eagle Watch Is Worried

By WILLIAM TAYLOR
Game Biologist

Hiawatha National Forest

During the past 15 years declining numbers of bald eagles has caused nationwide concern that the species is in danger of becoming extinct. On the Hiawatha National Forest the eagle, once numerous, is now absent from many of its former nesting, loafing, and fishing sites. During 1966 eagles were observed only at 8 of the 32 known nesting areas on and adjacent to the forest.

In 1962 the U.S. Forest Service initiated a program to protect and manage eagle nesting areas. Because so little information was available, the Hiawatha National Forest, in cooperation with the Chippewa National Forest in Minnesota, undertook a study to determine what eagles look for when they have nesting on their minds. Although the study is not yet complete, our knowledge of eagle nesting on the National Forest is increasing.

Most nest sites are close to water. Approximately 90 percent are located within one-half mile of a lake or a stream large enough to provide a source of food. Nesting birds frequently have more than one nest available for use. Almost half of the nesting areas contain two or more nests. Some nesting areas have four or five nests. Different nests may be used in different years.

The majority of nests on the Hiawatha National Forest are built in hardwood trees. Yellow birch and sugar maple are most often used; some nests are in American elm and white birch. Only a quarter of the nests are in pine trees, although in other sections of the Lake States pines are most often used for nesting.

The nest appears to be an important center of activity for eagles. Unlike other birds which abandon their nest once the young learn to fly, eagles use and/or remain close to their nests throughout much of the year.

Egg laying starts about mid-March. Birds frequently have to clear snow out of the nest to provide for the eggs. If any young are hatched, around the end of April, they will occupy the nest until the end of June or into July. After the young learn to fly, they remain in the vicinity of the nest well into late fall.

Parents and young continue to visit the nest for brief periods until snowily or cold weather sets in. About that time young birds move away while the adults stay. During mid-winter adults may move to areas where food is available. When water areas freeze over and fish become hard to get, the birds depend primarily upon car-killed animals and whatever carrion they can locate. At such times eagles are frequently caught in coyote and fox traps when they attempt to feed on the bait.

With nesting time here, Forest Service, Department of Conservation, and Audubon personnel and many interested persons, are alert for the presence of eagles. Folks on the Hiawatha National Forest are hoping for a more productive nesting season than last.

THIS BALD EAGLE'S NEST in the Fish Lake area on the Delta-Schoolcraft county line is in a yellow birch tree about 35 feet from the ground. The nest is about four feet in diameter. (Photo by William Taylor)

Britain Orders U.S. Aircraft

LONDON (AP) — The British government has signed an order for the purchase of 40 American F111 fighter-bombers, the Ministry of Defense announced tonight. The planes will be assigned to the Royal Air Force.

The ministry said delivery of the plane is scheduled to begin in 1969.

The F111 is designed by General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex.

It links Britain's air power and strategic planning with the Americans until at least the mid-1970s. It underlines the resolve of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government to keep playing an active military role east of the Suez.

Summer Jobs

LANSING (AP) — The State Labor Department has advised employers who plan to hire minors for summer jobs to submit applications for approval of occupation before the summer rush. Processing of such applications usually takes a week, the department said, and the minor cannot be hired during that time.

'Dummy' Fingers Save 5-year-old

DRAPER, Utah (AP) — A truck driver who realized a "dummy" wouldn't have fingers was credited today with saving the life of a 5-year-old Draper girl.

Friday, Wayne Pace of American Fork, Utah, drove past what he believed at first was a "dummy" hanging by a rope in a tree. However, he suddenly realized the "dummy" had fingers. He stopped and freed the girl and applied mouth-to-mouth-resuscitation.

The girl, Astelle Childs, was listed in serious condition today in a Salt Lake City hospital. Sheriff's deputies theorized the girl was playing and tied a rope hanging to a tree around her neck while standing on a 50-gallon steel drum. They said she apparently slipped or fell, nearly hanging herself.

Cutters Sighted:

Break Channels For Ore Carrier

The Coast Guard today began opening channels through Green Bay ice so that the first ore carrier, Inland Steel's big Ryerson, can reach the Chicago & North Western ore dock and start the 1967 shipping season.

First cutter sighted from Escanaba was the Mesquite, which appeared in the vicinity of Minneapolis Shoal some 12 miles south of Escanaba about 8 a.m. today.

Working her way in and around the edge of the ice field that blocks the approaches to Escanaba, the Mesquite was joined about 11 a.m. by the Coast Guard's big icebreaker Mackinac. Together they poked and sliced at the ice which measures about 20 inches thick.

The schedule calls for the cutters to work their way toward Escanaba and to break open a channel to the big ore dock, and then to poke pathways through the ice for tankers and other boats that will go to terminals at Wells, Kipling and Gladstone.

L. A. McMillan, Chicago & North Western dock agent, reported that the schedule holds on the arrival of the Ryerson from Indiana Harbor.

The Ryerson left Indiana Harbor this morning, will wait for an escort at the edge of the ice field, and will arrive at Escanaba "either Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning — probably on Wednesday morning," McMillan said.

With Capt. James Shoemith in command, the Ryerson will take on 23,000 tons of pellet ore from the Empire Mine and will return to Indiana Harbor.

Before the 1967 shipping season ends the C&NW will load out 6,000,000 or more tons of iron ore.

THE ICE IS BREAKING UP in the rivers of the Upper Peninsula as spring floodwaters move down their courses. Here the Big Cedar River is jammed with ice that backed up the stream for miles and sent it flooding over wooded bends on Sunday. The ice was jammed for hundreds of yards. Most of it was about a foot thick. The main course of the river was bypassing the jam and flowing in a channel beyond the trees at the top, which was ice-free. (Daily Press Photo)

Newsprint To Rise To $143 A Ton In July

The Escanaba Daily Press has been notified by Abitibi Paper Sales, Ltd., of Toronto that effective July 1 the price of newsprint will be increased $3 a ton. Newsprint is the paper on which newspapers are printed.

The $3 increase will raise the price to $143 a ton. This is the second increase in newsprint prices within a year. Abitibi said that in the past 10 years labor pay and fringe benefits have increased more than 53 per cent in its newsprint mills.

Traffic Crash Injures Four Young People

Four persons were injured in the collision of two cars at the 1600 block, Ludington St. at 1:52 a.m. Sunday, it is reported by Escanaba police. The injured were taken to St. Francis Hospital in a patrol car, treated and released.

They are: David H. Neff, 23, of 1720 Minneapolis, Gladstone, driver of one of the vehicles; Darr J. Babcock, 19, 502 S. 11th St., the other driver; and Jan Nyquist, 17, 712 S. 16th St., and Frederick A. Gravelle, 18, 704 S. 16th St., passengers. Escanaba police ticketed Neff for speeding.

Dogs Poisoned, Owners Report

Escanaba's dogs were in the news today, some the apparent victims of poison and others running at large and biting children, it is reported by city police.

Officers are investigating complaints of dog poisoning from Mrs. Richard Post of 1835 10th Ave. S. and from Ty Olson, 1604 18th Ave. S. Both said the dogs apparently died of poison. The stomach of the Olson dog was sent by local veterinarian to Lansing for laboratory examination.

Mrs. Post told officers that the dog owned by her children at 1617 17th Ave. S. died the evening of March 31. The Olson dog's death was reported on April 1.

Earlier this year Mrs. Jack Groeneveld, 1430 N. 20th St., told police that two dogs had been poisoned in that area.

A stray dog bit the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ottensman of 806 N. 19th St., on Saturday, inflicting wounds on her left arm, police were told by Mrs. Ottensman.

Danielle Schutz, 12, of 242 Lake Shore Drive, was bitten by a dog on March 31, police were advised. The dog was placed in the pound and held to determine if it has rabies.

Gas And Safety

The use of natural gas as a fuel in this area is new, although the use of gas is not. The City of Escanaba had a propane gas utility before the introduction of natural gas and so it was familiar with the explosive qualities of gas. There was a fatal home gas blast in the late period of city gas utility ownership and the city made a settlement in the case.

With Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. takeover of the Escanaba city gas utility there has been a new era of gas service here. The fuel is different and the method of handling is different and so is the management. The area is now served by a large utility firm which is in turn a part of American Natural Gas System.

The recent gas blast at the Noel home in Soo Hill raised questions about the new era of operations. The blast raised the house on its foundation and created some internal damage. Because the house is in a suburban area there was no city fire department inspection and there was no State Police inspection. The State Police organization has a state fire marshal division which concerns itself with such hazards.

A Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. spokesman said that the State Police were not immediately notified of the blast because the utility was not sure that it was involved and thus responsible for notification. The Noel home does not have gas service, the nearest gas is in the street out front.

The cause of the blast appears still mysterious to the utility, as the gas had to cross a frozen roadway which normally would have been a barrier to gas leakage. On Tuesday Leon R. Strait of the Michigan Public Service Commission, Lansing, inspected the situation and he will report his findings, although the processing of such reports usually takes some time.

Suburban and rural gas safety here thus comes under the scrutiny of both the State Police and the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Political Change

Congressman Philip Ruppe (R-Houghton) has given the 11th District more than a change from Democratic to Republican party representation in Washington. He succeeded Congressman Raymond Clevenger, a Big Government advocate who believed that Lyndon Johnson was specially ordained for our salvation and that if Washington would send enough money to the 11th District, its problems would be solved.

Ruppe has suggested that the postal system be divorced from politics and he's introduced a law to effect this noble aim. Let the professionals in the postal department run it, he suggests, instead of saddling it with political claimants.

We find two forces in collision here. One says that the political parties have so little patronage left under the civil service system that it is difficult to entice anyone into political activity with a suggestion that there's a little legal larceny in it. And the other says that government should be run by people who can do its work, not those who helped the congressman get elected.

Even Ray Clevenger might vote for Ruppe's bill after reading the mean things that some fellow ex-servicemen said about him as a congressman who gave precedence in postal appointments to politicians over veterans. Ruppe is a veteran, too, and veterans preference can apply as well in civil service as in congressional selection.

Ruppe's proposal is probably headed for the dustbin, but it is a milestone all the same. Imagine anyone proposing that a postal career man be named postmaster! We've been looking down the other end of the gun barrel since this nation was founded and created a postal service.

Turmoil Is Setback

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Red China's nuclear program will be set back by the political turmoil of the past year.

Peiping's technical development of nuclear weaponry may be startlingly successful in the next few years despite these difficulties. But her strife-aggravated economic-political-educational problems will be a serious drag on actual production for years in the future.

Communist China has poured sizable amounts of her scarce funds into a complex of nuclear research institutes, ore refining and gaseous diffusion plants at Lanzhou and in her Lop Nor testing grounds.

Red China has a group of topflight nuclear and missile scientists. She has concentrated the best of these at Lanzhou and at other research and development sites associated with her priority military nuclear program.

Peiping has invested a great deal of skilled manpower, materials and money into the exploration for uranium ore. She has concentrated a good part of her scarce first-rate geologists in this effort.

The Red leaders have been making plans for another complex of nuclear plants near Tsinghai Lake between Lanzhou and Lop Nor. They have put a premium on training younger nuclear scientists and missile men.

The mainland Chinese have had some highly successful tests to date. But they have run into serious difficulties. Peiping's known uranium ore supplies are limited. They are low grade. Present production is low and the production potential not promising. Mining and processing these low-grade ores is extremely expensive.

Despite the small body of topflight scientists, Red China is thin in backup. She doesn't have the necessary numbers of scientists and technical men to divert to the nuclear production program without further

Universities Short 11,000 Students

By PHIL BROWN
Associate Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — Many of Michigan's universities, colleges and junior colleges paused briefly this year to wonder about 11,000 students who weren't there, although they had been expected.

It was just a brief pause, since Michigan higher education didn't quit its growth, which threatens to accelerate sharply in about two years.

But for a number of reasons, apparently including the Vietnam war and good job opportunities, it didn't grow quite as fast this year as estimators thought it would.

Predicting college enrollments in advance is a hazardous business and for years administrators had been accustomed to finding more students at their doors each fall than they had predicted.

One education department worker's guess on why predictions for this year were too high is that college officials were reacting to past years of guessing short.

The enrollment at Michigan's 11 state-supported colleges and universities grew by 16 per cent between 1964 and 1965, and the colleges were expecting another increase just as big in 1966.

The actual increase came out to 10 per cent, from 133,862 to 147,353. The schools reported that providing space and teachers for the growing numbers of students still was a problem and none felt it was overbuilt.

At Wayne State University, officials expected 23,139 full-time equated students and 22,391 turned out. But the number of graduate students was higher than expected and those, university officials point out, are much more expensive to teach.

Jr. Colleges Slower
The state's public university and junior colleges also didn't grow quite as fast as expected. Their autumn, 1965, classes were 12,141 or 26 per cent bigger than the year before.

But their 1966 classes, expected to grow by a similar amount, were just 9,577 bigger, or about 14 per cent. Total enrollment was 67,841.

"The colleges usually end up with more than they estimate," said Dr. John Porter, director of the State Education Department's Bureau of Higher Education. "This is the first year there has been this widespread drop from estimates."

The bureau, he added, was checking on possible reasons. In some areas, though, the colleges followed the usual pattern of growing faster than expected.

NMU Above Estimate
Northern Michigan University, expecting an increase of 1,000, actually grew by 1,336 students this year. Officials believe residents of Lower Michigan are just discovering the school and this accounts for its rapid growth. 6,897 enrollment now compared to about 2,000 in 1960.

Effect of the draft is somewhat uncertain, although officials at Wayne and the University of Michigan believe it is keeping some men from enrolling in difficult university programs in which their grades might not satisfy the draft boards.

Robert Hubbard, director of Red China's Western-trained scientists have been under considerable suspicion. Regardless of how the current struggle for power in Red China turns out, its repercussions continue to gum up nuclear production prospects for some time to come.

Atomic missile weapon output depends on smooth co-ordination between the nuclear scientists and the producers of precision components and complicated priority schedules for scarce materials.

With politics taking precedence and with serious fighting likely for several years to come, the technical-industrial network necessary for the building of a nuclear warhead and missile delivery stockpile will be slow in developing.

the office of institutional research at Wayne, said Wayne's survey shows that the number of women freshmen increased as predicted while the number of men did not.

Jr. College Stable
"It is easier to maintain full-time status at a community college," he said. Full-time status and good performance are needed to gain and keep a student deferment from the draft.

Community college registers say the draft is prompting male students to take full-time programs, even when they have a job, too.

Orva L. Ice Jr., registrar at Macomb Community College in Warren, believes that as many as 1,000 men, over-loading their schedules with studies and outside jobs, are running the risk of flunking out.

But other registrars believed some men were enlisting in the Army and planning to return to school later under the GI bill, which pays part of the cost.

Jobs Are Influencing
Some others thought young men waiting to be drafted were taking short-term jobs, buying cars and living it up while they could.

The economy was good for finding jobs.

Among some potential students, "if jobs are scarce they go to school," said Edward Bush, director of admissions at Port Huron Junior College. "But when they can earn $3 an hour and buy a car, they don't go to school."

Raymond Anderson, registrar at Lansing Community College, noted, "We have to take into consideration the older students. That's where the economy comes in."

About one-third of his school's students, he said, are older persons who normally would not attend Michigan State University, just four miles away in East Lansing.

Under Estimates
Port Huron, expecting 2,600 students, had 2,514. Lansing, expecting 4,600, had 4,154.

College administrators have a few clues for predicting how many students will arrive each year. The birth rate is one indicator. And 19 years ago, it dropped slightly in Michigan after a post-war peak of 160,275 in 1947.

The estimators knew this, but they also knew that each year the percentage of high school graduates who go on to college is increasing. The trick is to figure out by how much.

Job Impact
The birth rate, incidentally, began another upswing in the early 1950s and reached 208,488 in 1957. Children born in 1951 will be at college age in 1969.

By 1965, the birth rate had dropped to 166,464 and the 1966 rate is expected to be lower. The job market doesn't have much impact on predictions at such schools as the University of Michigan.

The potential U-M student is interested in going right into college, and applies to many colleges, said Allan Smith, vice president for academic affairs. "The kids really are beginning to believe it's tough to get in and they are earnest to more schools," said Ernest Zimmerman, Smith's assistant.

The greater number of applications — not representing a greater number of students — can mislead the men who predict enrollments.

Multiple Applications
"The same number of acceptances was sent out as in the previous year, but the number that showed was down," said Smith, noting the U-M expected 33,250 students and 33,062 arrived.

"Estimating is extremely difficult and when we come this close to 188, or one-half per cent error, we don't feel it was a bad job at all," he added.

In the previous five years, he said, enrollment exceeded expectations. Wayne had 263 more graduate students than it had expected, and it had expected a sharp increase, Hubbard said.

MSU Is Short
Michigan State University's experience was similar to that at the U-M. After five years of enrollments outrunning expectations, MSU had a fall term enrollment in 1966 of 38,335 — 32 fewer than predicted.

Other colleges which did not end up with all the students they expected were Lake Superior at Sault Ste. Marie and Grand Valley at Allendale.

Sault Estimate High
Lake Superior, expected 1,530 had 1,182. Duane Graham, the registrar, believes it could have been a case of an overly optimistic guess.

Location can make a difference even to the four-year colleges.

Northern Michigan's combination of medium size, modern facilities, new and popular teachers and location away from big cities and in the midst of outstanding ski country all have helped its growth, officials said.

"Our location, at one time a handicap, has turned into a blessing," said Dr. James Hoffman, an admissions counselor. "Our best advertising is the students we have now," said Robert Boiss, director of admissions.

To assist in speeding the food-for-victory program, Lester Kenny was appointed special farm placement representative in the Escanaba office of the United States Employment Service. His job included assisting farmers in the district in hiring agricultural labor.

The sum of $299.50 already was received in the Delta county sale of Easter Seals to raise funds for the work of the Michigan Crippled Children's society, campaign Chairman Nick Carr reported. The drive had not yet officially ended.

50 Years Ago
The municipal election of March 30 proved to be one of the most uneventful in the history of the city. Only one contest marked the balloting: Alderman Henry North was reelected over John Finnigan by a majority of 28 votes. In all of the other positions on the ballots, the nominees were unopposed.

Also in the municipal election, the people of Escanaba lent their approval to the plan proposed by the city officials to suspend the dumping of Escanaba's sewage into the bay.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — During a conference on the role of state legislatures, the speaker of the Florida House, Rep. Ralph Turlington said that recent Supreme Court decisions requiring more equal appointment of legislatures will mean a resurgence of responsibility in these bodies.

Manistique

I received your letter of inquiry concerning the unidentified lighted craft in the Manistique area and regret that I can offer no solution.

The distance at which a helicopter would be audible depends upon things such as wind direction and strength and the type of aircraft engine. For instance, if the helicopter were downwind from the observer the sound would be much less than if the craft were upwind. Also, the new jet powered helicopters make much less noise than the conventional piston-engine powered types.

I hope this is of some help to you. For further information I suggest that you contact the U.S. Air Force. The Air Force is engaged in a project specifically assigned to the investigation of unidentified flying objects sightings. Beside the possibility of offering you a solution, the Air Force would be interested in the information from a study standpoint.

As far as I can determine from notices to airmen issued by the FAA, there have been no other than normal aircraft operating in the Manistique area.

Blood In Urine Calls For Action

Q — What causes macular degeneration? Does it result in blindness?

A — Macular degeneration is a destruction of the point of central vision in the retina. It may be caused by an injury to the eye or advanced age. Since there is no treatment for this condition the vision lost cannot be regained.

Q — My doctor found red blood cells in my urine. He has ruled out any disease of the kidneys or prostate. What other conditions could cause this?

A — The most likely other cause would be a disease of the bladder. Less likely possibilities include leukemia, purpura, scurvy and hemophilia. I would advise you to have a cystoscopic examination without delay because blood in the urine is never to be taken lightly.

Q — What would cause albumin in the urine? What diet should I follow to get rid of it?

A — The commonest diseases that might cause albumin in the urine are nephritis (Bright's disease), heart disease with a leaky valve, leukemia, purpura, scurvy and poisoning with mercury, lead and other chemicals. In adolescents and adults albumin may appear in the urine after prolonged standing. For this condition, known as orthostatic albuminuria, no treatment is necessary. It is not a threat to health and disappears in time.

For the more serious conditions the treatment would depend on the cause. The protein intake should not be restricted unless the daily output of urine is scanty. Since scurvy is caused by a deficiency of vitamin C, adding citrus fruits to the diet will cure it. In some of the conditions listed it may be necessary to limit the intake of salt.

Hitting People In Mouth No Solution

Dear Ann Landers: I applied for a job at a TV station and went to work last week. I am 23 years old and have worked in a department store and two offices. This TV job is so different from by previous jobs that I am having a difficult time getting accustomed to it. Please tell me if there's something wrong with me or it is the people who work in TV.

Everyone around the studio kisses everyone else good morning and good evening. It is all so casual nobody thinks a thing of it. They even kiss when they leave for lunch. There's a lot of nose tweaking, cheek pinching, lap sitting and fanny patting.

No one has a name. The girls are "Doll" or "Beautiful" or "Baby." The fellows are "Sexy" or "Tiger" or "Big Daddy."

I am not suggesting that people who work in TV have looser morals than other people but the familiarity around this place is a bit too much. I confess my inability to fit in has made me nervous. Do you think I ought to leave or try to be "one of them"? — SQUARE PEG

Dear Peg: You'd better go back to one of those offices where they say "Good morning, Miss Smith." You'll be happier. In the meantime, after this letter appears in print there will probably be 2,000 applicants for your TV job.

Dear Ann Landers: It took a lot of courage for you to print the letter from that nut who accused you of being an animal hater. I would like to say a word on the subject.

On our block almost everyone has a dog. These dog owners say it is cruel to keep a dog tied up. They think it's perfectly all right to let a dog run loose, mess up the neighbor's lawn, dig up tulip bulbs, bite friendly men and sometimes get hit by a car. Whenever I mention the leash law to a dog owner he yells something like, "Anyone who hates animals can't be trusted!"

I have made up my mind that the next time a neighbor's dog messes on our lawn I am going to grab the owner by the nape of the neck and make him clean it up. I will probably end up hitting him in the mouth and paying a fine or going to jail, but it will be worth it. Do you go along with me? — BOILING POINT

Drinking may be "in" to the kinds you run with — but it can put you "out for keeps." You can cool it and stay popular. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

© 1967, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate

Dear Ann Landers: Our 19-year-old son went with a 17-year-old girl for two years. They were together night and day. When they weren't together they were talking on the phone. We kept telling them they were too young to be so serious.

They wouldn't listen and the next thing we knew she was pregnant. My husband and I were just sick about it but we could do nothing except let them get married.

Our son received his draft papers a few weeks ago and wants his wife to live with us. We told him she would have to live with her folks because we have no room. Our two younger children share the second bedroom and we would have to put them in the living room.

Are we mean and have we let him down, as he says? — INDIANAPOLIS MOTHER

Dear Mother: No. And don't let your son and his wife draft YOU. Stick to your position or you'll wind up being nurse, sister, maid and chief bottle washer.

Stockholm's Chorus Sings Here April 11

The oldest mixed student chorus in Sweden, the Stockholm University Chorus, founded in 1931, will sing the closing concert of the present season next Tuesday night, April 11 at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium.

The Delta County Community Concert Association considered it the "headline" attraction in securing the 1966-67 memberships.

Composed mostly of students from the Stockholm area the Chorus has participated in several tours of Germany, Austria, England and Wales, Finland, Italy and Poland in addition to radio and television appearances in their native Sweden. They are now on their first North American tour.

Twice in Wales, the chorus won first and second prize, respectively, in the main competitions for mixed choruses.

On the occasion of the Chorus' 25th anniversary, the noted American choral conductor, Robert Shaw, said, "The beauty of your singing equals and surpasses our entire life's experience of unaccompanied singing."

Possessing an unusually large repertoire of over 600 numbers the Chorus presents material from Swedish folk songs to contemporary and older choral works. The group has performed music by Brahms, Kodaly, Debussy, Ravel, and Britten very extensively. In addition, they have a fairly large repertoire of Negro spirituals which are often performed in Sweden.

The Stockholm Chorus is conducted by Eskil Hemberg, noted Swedish composer, who is also producer at Sweden's Radio. He succeeded Johannes Norby, who was its conductor from 1943-1964.

Curtain time will be 8:15 p.m. and, as always, tickets are transferable.

Auxiliary To Meet Wednesday

St. Francis Hospital Auxiliary will hold their regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 2 p.m. The board of directors will meet at 1 p.m.

Smelt Run Is Spring Fun

By LEE SMITS

Spring is marked on nature's calendar by the smelt run. And the smelt run recalls the history of various man-made changes in Michigan's fish population. The smelt, we're told, were brought in for the purpose of providing forage for land-locked salmon, which were introduced in the Lake Michigan watershed around the turn of the century — and promptly disappeared.

When word goes out that the smelt run is on the residents of a lake town scramble for dipping positions in rivers and creeks, on banks, bridges and docks. At one time wire waste-baskets were standard dipping gear, but there are now nets made for smelt.

Smelt dippers can be divided into three classifications—dippers to eat, dippers to sell and dippers to whom dipping is relatively unimportant. A smelt run permits convivial types to get away from job and home, stay up all night, build driftwood fires, sing close-harmony and combat the chill with stimulants, including hot coffee.

They are pretty sure to get fresh smelt to eat, and nothing is tastier. Those who are not addicted to fish say that smelt has no fishy taste. Those who resent fish bones eat smelt as though it had no bones. Experts say that a smelt feast should consist of smelt and nothing else. A few hours of dipping is the best appetizer. A prodigious amount of smelt can be consumed without unpleasant side effects.

Smelt run up creeks and rivers to spawn, the males leading the procession. Six inches is average length and it takes a skillet full of smelt to weigh a pound. Smelt dipping in a lake port such as Escanaba will yield as much as 20,000 pounds a day and smelt have brought as much as 13 cents a pound. Tons of smelt are shipped to big city markets to be served as a special delicacy in expensive eating places. Tons of smelt are also kept in deep freeze to feed ranch mink.

The smelt run proves that fish planting can be a gamble. Smelt were established accidentally. And a few years ago it looked as though an epidemic of some kind had wiped them out.

A highly successful planting project was carried out 90 years ago when German carp were introduced in Michigan waters. Around that time an enormous number of infant eels were released. Eels were unable to reproduce because they had no access to the ocean and could not reach their ancestral spawning beds, in the south Atlantic.

Douglas Houghton and Bela Hubbard reported that native brook trout were not found in Lower Peninsula streams until after the decline of the grayling. Then trout appeared in waters of the northwest corner of the Lower Peninsula and eventually they were planted in every county. The first trout were planted in the Au Sable in 1885.

Presently the rainbow trout was brought in, and the brown trout. Both plantings were, of course, highly successful. And now the coho salmon, brought in from the Pacific Coast, looms up as another favorite on Michigan's outstanding list of game fish.

Sports Fishing Wins Over Nets

Closing of a portion of Tahquamenon Bay in Chippewa County to commercial fishing from April 15 to Nov. 30 has been recommended by the Fish and Law Enforcement Divisions of the Michigan Conservation Department.

The recommendation is scheduled to be acted on by the Michigan Conservation Commission at its April meeting in Lansing Thursday and Friday.

Controversy between sport and commercial fishermen in Tahquamenon Bay, which is part of Whitefish Bay, is of long standing, according to Wayne H. Tody, fish division chief, and John A. Anguilm, law enforcement chief.

"In accordance with recent emphasis on the sport fishery of the Great Lakes and a substantial program both in money and effort to provide sport fishing for salmon, steelhead and lake trout, it seems appropriate that certain well-suited areas be considered as sport fishing areas and that commercial fishing be prohibited there," they said. "Tahquamenon Bay is well-suited to sport fishing and its fish population is composed primarily of sport fish species, including perch, smallmouth bass and steelhead or rainbow trout."

Tody and Anguilm also recommended that chinook salmon, which are to be introduced in Michigan this spring, be excluded from the commercial fishery. After coho salmon were planted in Michigan waters last spring for the first time, an order was issued by the commission prohibiting taking of this species commercially. The fish and law enforcement divisions now want the taking of chinook salmon also restricted to hook and line fishing.

Paul R. Rearick, acting chief of the parks division, has asked the commission to open Indian Lake State Park in Schoolcraft County to hunting and trapping in season. Rearick said there is little or no use of the area for camping or other visitation during hunting seasons.

The commission also has been handed a request to dedicate

Trombonist Dies At Park Concert

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Averly Loposer, who played the trombone with his bare foot, died Sunday before a crowd estimated by officials at "at least 2,000."

Loposer, 66, was playing with a local orchestra at a municipal park concert to promote a jazz festival for young musicians when he took the horn from his lips and called out: "Is there a doctor in the crowd?"

He then collapsed and died within minutes of an apparent heart attack.

Healthy Al Kaline Bad News For Tiger Enemies

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—There's bad news for opponents of the Detroit Tigers.

Al Kaline is hale and healthy and playing like a million dollars.

The 32-year-old slugging outfielder got three hits, drove in two runs, stole a base and made a great catch in Sunday's 7-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

"I really felt good," he said. He said it was the first time in years he hadn't been playing with some sort of injury.

He said he is looking forward to the American League opener next week. "You've got to get yourself going mentally," Kaline said, "and you've got to get going now."

He raised his average to .310 and has hit two home runs and has seven RBIs in Grapefruit League play.

Gates Brown missed the game and will be out a few days with an injured foot. He was on crutches Sunday after bouncing a foul tip off his right foot in Saturday's game.

"There's nothing broken," Brown said, "but it's a bad bruise and it's mighty sore."

Brown had been playing left field in place of Willie Horton. Horton has a burr in his condition in the tendon just above his right heel and has been out several days.

Joe Sparma started Sunday's game and worked six innings.

giving up four runs on eight hits.

"Never on Sunday," he joked afterwards. "I never have a good fast ball on Sunday. I thought I got the breaking ball over well, however."

Tiger Manager Mayo Smith said, "Joe wasn't anything as sharp as he has been, but I don't think it's anything to worry about."

Larry Sherry relieved and went the final three innings, allowing one run on two hits.

Chicago got a run off Sparma in the first and another in the second.

Detroit went ahead in the fourth with three runs on a walk to Don Wert, a perfect base hit bunt by Kaline, a single by Northrup, a double steal by Kaline and Northrup and infield outs by Bill Freehan and Dick Tracewski.

Chicago tied it in the fourth and went one up in the fifth, but Detroit won it in the seventh with four runs.

Norm Cash was walked, Jake Wood, Dick McAuliffe and Wert singled and Kaline doubled.

Smoky Burgess lifted a long drive to open the Chicago ninth but Kaline made a running catch at the fence. The White Sox managed just one run off Sherry in the ninth as a rally fell short.

The Tigers play the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa today.

Celtic Reign Nearing End?

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics' eight-year reign as National Basketball Association champions teetered on the brink today, and one member of the Philadelphia 76ers was already reading the obituary notice.

"It's all over . . . I think so, I really do," said Hal Greer after the 76ers won a 107-102 nationally televised thriller Sunday at Boston Garden to take a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division final playoffs.

"We're not going to let up just because we're two up," the veteran backcourt star added. "We're going to beat down even harder than ever."

The Celtics weren't quite ready for the funeral yet, and even the other 76ers were a bit more cautious. But both sides agreed that the way Philadelphia beat Boston at its own game was significant.

"We ran, we got the ball up the floor, we played good defense," said 76ers Coach Alex Hannum. "We did what Boston usually does."

The 76ers used another Celtics standby—a new hero for each crucial spot—but once again it was 7-foot-11 Wilt Chamberlain who dominated over-all action with 15 points, 29 rebounds, five assists and five blocked shots.

"We'll show up for the third game in Philadelphia Wednesday night," Player-Coach Bill Russell said. "We wouldn't show up if we didn't think we had a chance."

Chet Walker's 23 points led the balanced 76ers attack. Wally Jones had 22, Greer 17, Luke Jackson 15 and Bill Cunningham 13.

John Havlicek had 26 and Bailey Howell 22 for Boston.

In the only other playoff game over the weekend, San Francisco took a 2-0 lead over St. Louis in the Western Division finals with a 143-136 triumph in San Francisco Saturday night.

The third and fourth games of the series will be played in St. Louis on Wednesday and Saturday.

Soap Box Derby Loser Makes Race Comeback

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Gale Yarborough has come a long way from defeat in the Soap Box Derby to victory in the Atlanta 500.

The 27-year-old Yarborough, who led nearly all the way in winning his first major stock car race Sunday, says he started racing at the age of 11 in the Soap Box Derby at Darlington, S. C.

"I lost," he said.

He didn't lose Sunday. The pole-sitter from Charlotte, N.C., withstood brief challenges by Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., and Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., and led for 302 of the 334 laps at the 1½-mile, high-banked Atlanta International Raceway. He had no serious challenge for the last 137 laps.

"That Fairlane was really running good," he said of his 1967 Ford. "Nobody out there could run with it."

"I found out they couldn't even draft me and then I knew they had their work cut out for them," he said of the 44-car field. Only 17 cars finished the race.

Drafting is driving close behind a car, allowing the first car to pull the second in its wake which saves gas for the second car.

Yarborough said Petty's 1967 Plymouth gave him the most competition. Petty held the lead for 17 laps before blowing his engine on the 196th lap.

Andretti, who won Saturday's 12-hour endurance race in Sebring, Fla., and then rushed back to Atlanta for the 500, also led briefly. But his 1967 Ford brushed the wall on the fourth turn on the 157th lap and on the 282nd lap a tire blew as he pulled into the pits. His crew tried to weld the fender. He got back on the track but had to leave for good a lap later.

The eighth annual race was free of major accidents but six caution flags slowed the time to 131.078 miles per hour.

Yarborough collected $20,385 in first prize money. Finishing second was Dick Hutcherson of Camden, S. C., in a 1967 Ford and Buddy Baker of Charlotte was third in a 1967 Dodge.

Charles Glotzbach of Georgetown, Ind., was fourth in a 1965 Dodge and Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N. C., was fifth in a 1967 Dodge.

Matson Breaks Discus Record

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Relays already led the Big Four relay meets of the country in comparative records, and three more were added over the weekend to give the big track and field carnival here one more mark than the other three put together.

Randy Matson, Texas A&M's great weightman, scored a double and one of them—the discus, where Matson set an intercollegiate record of 201 feet, 1 inch—was one of the three picked up.

The others were Kansas' world record in the sprint medley when the Jayhawks, spearheaded by the fabulous Jim Ryun, romped to 3:15.2, and the pole vaulter Fred Burton of Wichita State soared 16 feet, 9½ inches. This is the highest vault ever in any of the four meets.

The Texas Relays lead in records with nine and one tie; the Kansas Relays, which go on April 21-22, have five and a tie, while the Drake Relays lead in two and the Penn Relays in one.

Kansas, Drake and Penn still are to be held this year and there could be a change in the standings.

The Kansas Relays and Penn Relays will have to make it without Matson's help, however. He does compete in the Drake Relays April 28-29.

Matson was picked as the outstanding athlete of the Texas Relays because of his two records—the discus and 68-8 in the shot put.

Ryun started when he ripped off a 1:46.1 half-mile to lead Kansas in its world-shattering sprint medley relay.

New Cage League Drafts Top All-American Choices

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—All-Americans Jim Walker and Clem Haskins loom as the big targets in the approaching professional basketball battle.

The new American Basketball Association, also left no doubt Sunday that there will be attempts to lure established pros.

In its organizational meeting, the ABA drafted 130 college players, with Walker, the leading major college scorer from Providence, picked by Indianapolis, a team to be known in the future as Indiana.

Louisville went for Western Kentucky's Haskins plus his teammate Dwight Smith and Kentucky's Louis Dampier in a preference for home-state talent.

Now the ABA clubs must try to sign their draftees.

As ammunition to help lure the college crop and also to seek the established pros from the National Basketball Association, the new league established a pension plan and said service in the other league would count in longevity.

The ABA did not divulge the order of its selections, a move to discourage comparisons of signings of early-round choices in the two leagues.

There were surprises and some foul-ups during the day-long meeting. New Orleans went through early rounds normally and then named Bob Seagen the indoor pole vault record holder.

"This is hilarious. It's impossible," declared Seagen in Los Angeles. "I haven't touched a

Sean Morton Downey Jr., of the New Orleans club said Seagen, of the University of Southern California, was drafted "because he is a great athlete, and we think he can play basketball."

Two teams drafted players only to discover scouts hadn't furnished their first names. Another chose one apparently nonexistent.

Indiana took a flyer when it picked Gene Washington, Michigan State football star, who is expected to play that game professionally. He did play basketball in high school.

Besides Washington, who hasn't played basketball since high school and has been drafted by basketball in five years."

Hawks To Face Maple Leafs In Playoff Opener

By The Associated Press
It will be the Chicago Black Hawks against the Toronto Maple Leafs and the New York Rangers against the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoff semifinals round beginning in Chicago and Montreal Thursday.

Today, it was Stan Mikita against a video tape replay—in a battle the Chicago playmaking wizard appeared to have little chance of winning.

Mikita, the slick center on the Black Hawks' Scooter line, won his third NHL scoring title with 97 points, finishing with a pair of assists in Sunday's 8-0 romp over New York. That tied the NHL record for points set by teammate Bobby Hull last year.

In Sunday's other windup game, Montreal wrapped up second place with a 4-2 victory over Detroit and Toronto finished third, whipping Boston 5-2.

Mikita was sure he broke Hull's record with an assist that doesn't show in the scoring summaries. Official scorer Lennie Crovat was to take another look at the play in question via video tape today in New York.

But the NHL has taken a dim view of the rerun, declaring the scorer's original decision will stand up.

The phantom assist came on a third-period goal by Doug Mohns. It was Mohns' 25th goal of the season, and the assists were credited to Ken Wharram and Ed Van Impe.

When the goal was announced, Mohns skated over to the referee to correct the assists. But no change was made. Then, after the game, Mikita spoke to the official scorer.

"I told him I had deflected the puck behind the net and that I was the last one to touch it before Mohns," Mikita explained. "He said that he and his assistant both had seen the goal develop the same way and that neither thought I had an assist coming."

There was no argument over the club record of 26 goals set by the Hawks on the way to their first NHL title. Their eight goals against New York gave them five more than the season mark set by Montreal in 1961-62.

The Canadiens stretched their winning streak to six games and finished the season unbeaten in their last 11 games.

DETROIT (AP)—It was a fight to the finish for the Detroit Red Wings.

Officials called 45 minutes in penalties—the Wings took the bait with 31 minutes—in Detroit's free-swinging National Hockey League finale Sunday night against Montreal.

By doing less fighting and more scoring the Canadiens whipped Detroit 4-2, clinching second place in the NHL with an 11-game unbeaten streak.

The Canadiens, defending Stanley Cup champions, will be in their playoff defense Thursday at home against the New York Rangers. Chicago faces Toronto at home in the other semifinal opener.

New York lost its chance of finishing third when Chicago romped to an 8-0 victory Sunday in a nationally televised game. Toronto grabbed third place with a weekend sweep, 5-2 over Boston on Sunday and 5-1 over New York on Saturday. The Canadiens beat the Black Hawks 5-4 Saturday.

Detroit had nothing to gain or lose in the contest. The Wings ended the season in fifth place, out of the playoffs for the first time in five years.

The Wings wound up the sea-

Minnesota of the National Football League, Indianapolis chose 6-foot-11 Craig Dill of Michigan.

Dallas of the ABA chose 6-foot-7 Matt Aitch of Michigan State in the draft.

Houston named 6-5 Jerry Pettway of Northern Michigan.

Detroit's Mel Daniels, 6-9, who plays for New Mexico, was picked by Minnesota.

Commissioner George Mikan said Milwaukee did not meet a deadline for formal application so the league will operate with 11 clubs.

In the loop are Anaheim, Dallas, Denver which substituted for Kansas City, Houston, Indiana, Louisville, Minnesota, New Orleans, New York, Oakland and Pittsburgh.

Detroit Fight Decision Soon

DETROIT (AP)—A decision on a proposed heavyweight title bout between champion Cassius Clay and former two-time champion Floyd Patterson apparently is in the hands of Clay backers.

E&J Sports Club of Detroit offered Clay $250,000 to meet Patterson at Detroit's Olympia Stadium April 25, the group's attorney, Eddie D. Smith said Sunday night.

Clay, who prefers to be known as Muhammad Ali, is to be inducted into the Army April 28.

Smith and Michigan Boxing Commissioner Chuck Davey said Friday they were almost certain that Clay would accept the offer. However, there has been no word since.

Nick London, who runs Olympia, said E&J would have to come up with the money by Monday before anything would be signed.

"The money is available, and I think we can put on a good show," said Smith, who said he was negotiating with Clay's manager, Herbert Muhammad.

Meanwhile, Patterson's manager, Al Bolan, confirmed that Clay's backers had initiated negotiations.

Red Wings Fight To Finish, Lose Final Hockey Battle To Montreal

DETROIT (AP)—It was a fight to the finish for the Detroit Red Wings.

Officials called 45 minutes in penalties—the Wings took the bait with 31 minutes—in Detroit's free-swinging National Hockey League finale Sunday night against Montreal.

By doing less fighting and more scoring the Canadiens whipped Detroit 4-2, clinching second place in the NHL with an 11-game unbeaten streak.

Detroit had nothing to gain or lose in the contest. The Wings ended the season in fifth place, out of the playoffs for the first time in five years.

The Wings wound up the season with only 58 points in total scoring, tying them with 1958-59 for least points in a season.

Bryan Watson engaged in an elbow-to-elbow shoving match with Montreal's John Ferguson with only 48 seconds gone in the second period.

"It was a dandy," said Watson. He was penalized six minutes and another Wings defenseman, Gary Bergman, got a 10-minute misconduct penalty for protesting the action against Watson.

"I thought Ferguson was your buddy," forward Bruce MacGregor told Watson, referring to an off-the-ice friendship with the Montreal player.

"He's still my buddy," Watson replied.

"With buddies like that," said MacGregor, "who needs enemies?"

The teams packed all their action into the first two periods, scoring the six goals and absorbing all the penalties. Officials stopped the game five times to halt fights.

Bobby Rousseau opened the scoring at 12:15 of the first period, cracking a power play goal past Detroit netminder Roger Crozier. The Wings were two men short and the Canadians one shy at the time.

Henri Richard gave Montreal a 2-0 lead in the first period.

MacGregor notched his 28th goal of the season, with assists from Gordie Howe and Norm Ullman, at 6:33 of the second period. But Rechefort checked at 9:49 and Jan Bejvalov followed with a goal at 1:10.

Dan Prentice scored Detroit's first goal—his 23rd this season—at 15:39.

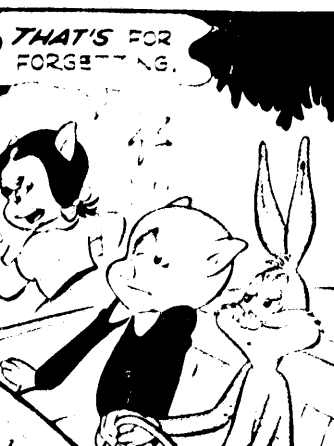

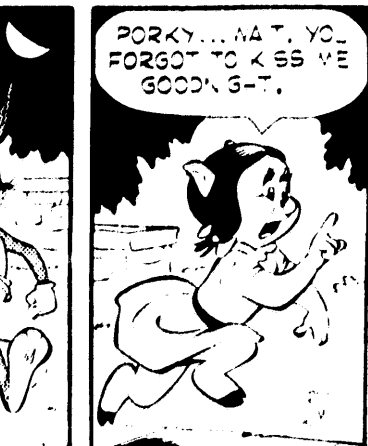

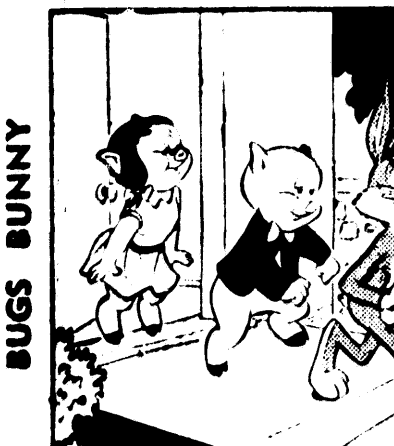

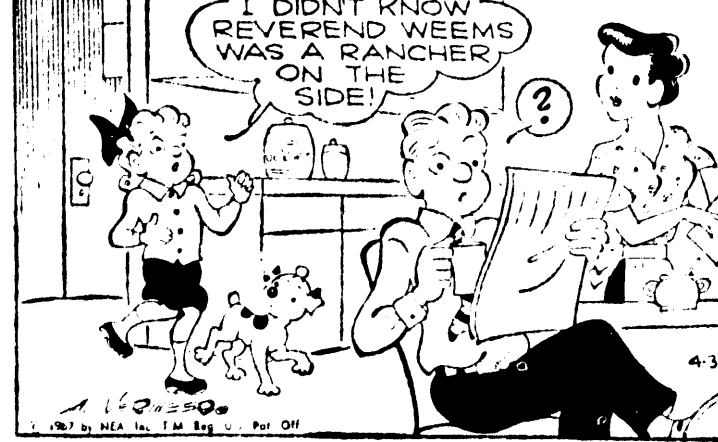

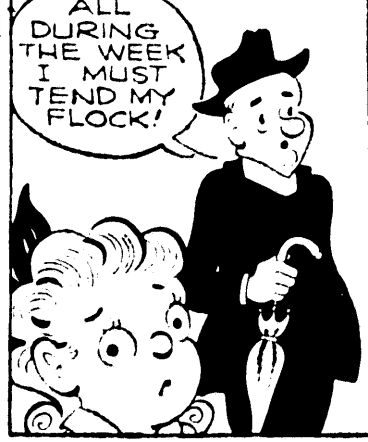

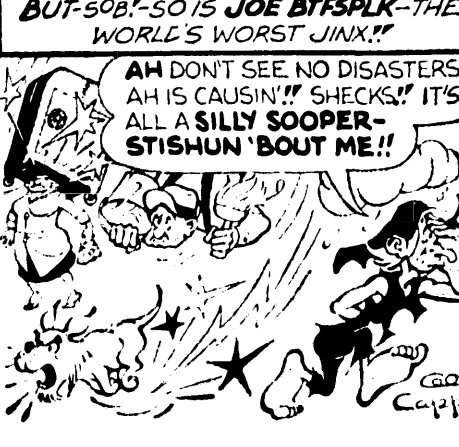

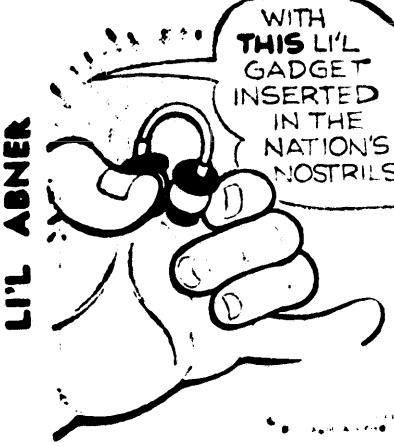

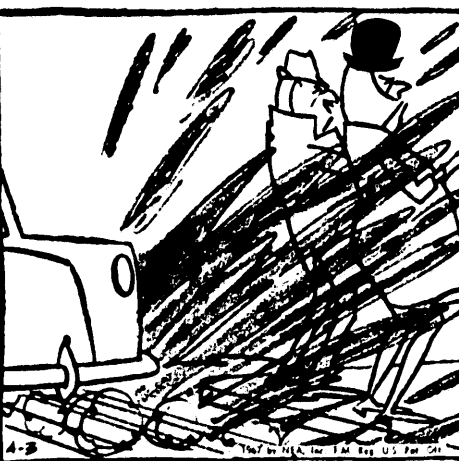

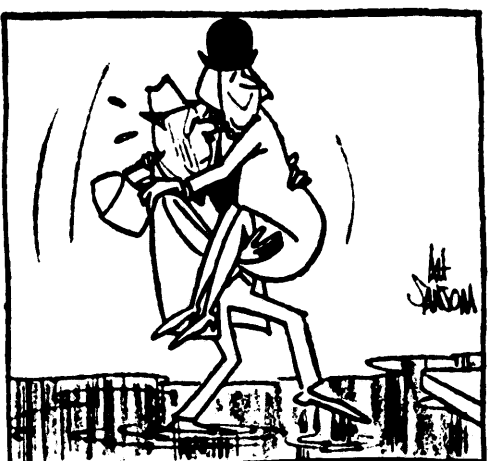

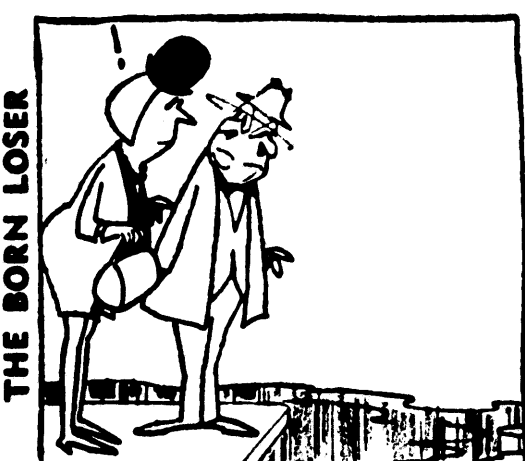

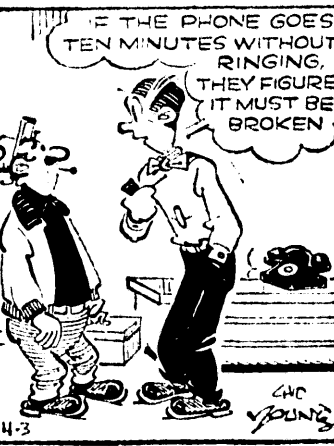

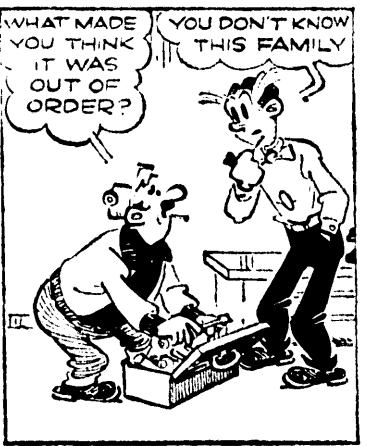

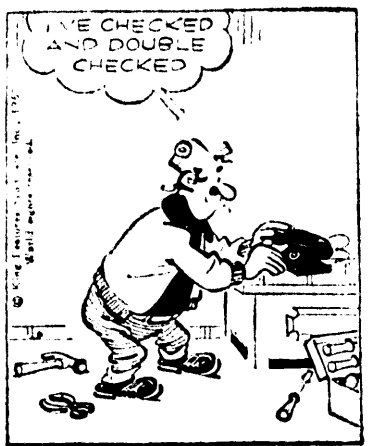

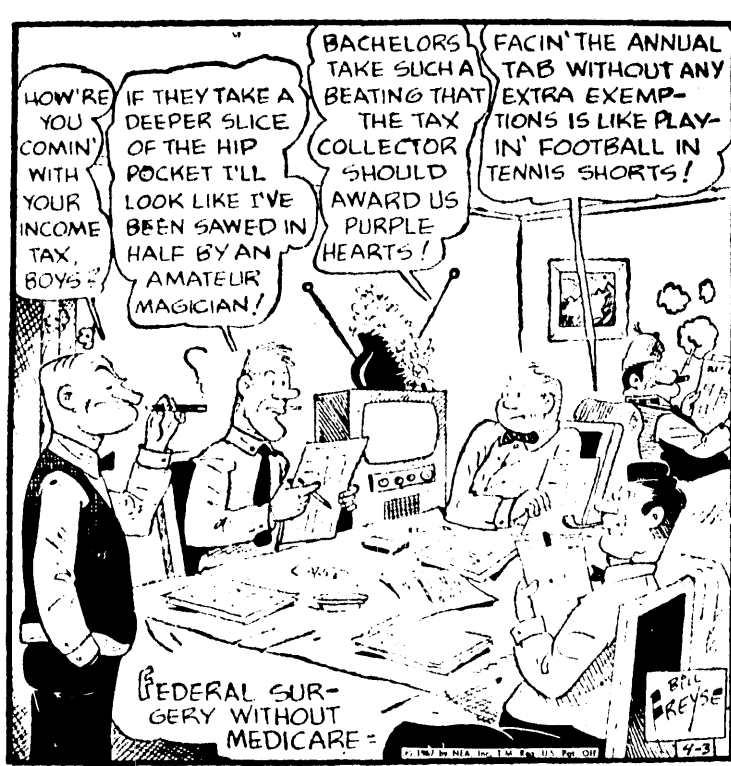

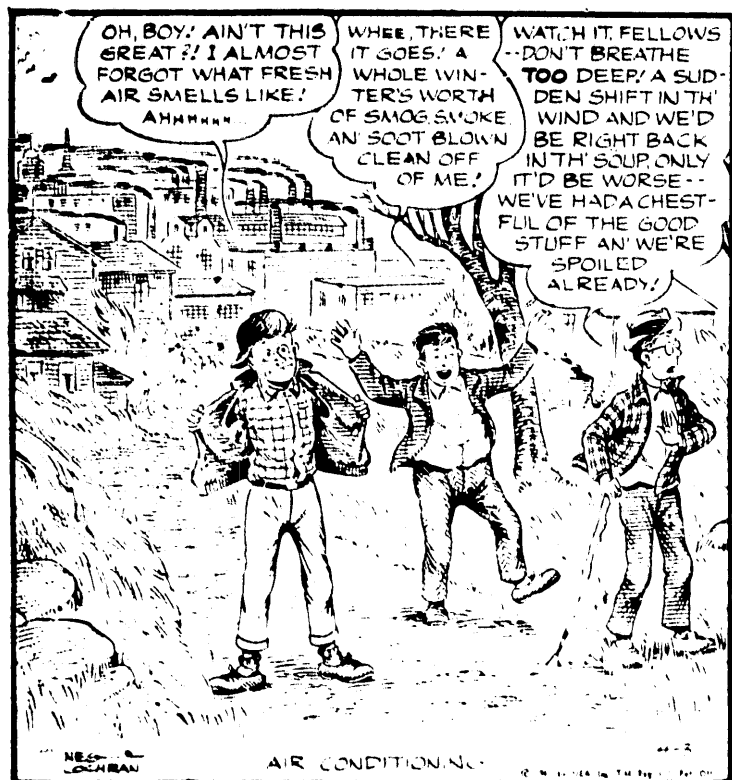

Chicago's victory over New York made the Black Hawks the angriest scoring team in NHL history. Their eight goals gave them 264, breaking the record of 239 set by Montreal five years ago.

And Chicago's Scooter Line, composed of center Stan Mikita, right wing Ken Wharram and left wing Doug Mohns, finished with 222 points. The line became the second highest scoring line in NHL history, four points shy of the record set by Detroit's Ted Lindsay, Ullman and Howe 10 years ago.

Toronto goalie Johnny Bower turned aside 38 shots before giving away to Boston's Terry Sawchuk in the final 10 minutes. Bob Pulford led the Leafs with 16th and 17th goals.

Crash Landing Damages Plane

A single-engine plane piloted by Larry Boyd, 41, of Manistique, was extensively damaged when it crash landed at 4:30 p.m. Saturday on a private landing field at the Clarence Gerlach farm east of Manistique.

Neither Boyd or Gerlach, who was a passenger in the plane, were injured.

State Police said the four-place Cessna 180 developed engine trouble at an altitude of about 700-800 feet after taking off. Boyd headed for the Gerlach landing field and struck a power line in attempting to land, officers said.

The landing gear which caught in the power line, the propeller, cowling, both doors, both control sticks and the windshield, which popped out, were damaged.

Gerlach and Boyd are co-owners of the plane. The landing was two tenths of a mile north of County Rd. 433.

Three men from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base were injured about 1:45 a.m. today when the car in which they were riding hit a flooded section of U.S. 41 north of Rapid River, went into a skid and flipped over.

State Police said all three were taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Marquette by private automobile.

Troopers said driver of the car was Gerard McDermott, 21, and he had two passengers, Kenneth Spruell, 19, and Richard Gray, 20. Details on their injuries were not available.

Reds, Cards Lose More Trade Ground

By The Associated Press

The much publicized and criticized Frank Robinson and Bill White trades resulted in another minus for the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals after a weekend of adding and subtracting.

The Reds crossed the name of relief pitcher Jack Baldschun off their roster Sunday, another unkindly cut against the deal that sent Robinson to Baltimore before last season and brought Baldschun, Milt Pappas and Dick Simpson to the Reds.

Robinson, of course, went on to win the Most Valuable Player award in the American League while the Cincinnati trio failed to distinguish themselves.

The Cardinals gave up on pitcher Art Mahaffey a day earlier when they sent him to the New York Mets with Jerry Buchek and infielder Tony Martinez for infielder Ed Bressoud, outfielder Danny Napoleon and cash.

Mahaffey, once a 20-game winner with Philadelphia, came to the Cardinals with Alex Johnson and Pat Corrales for White, Dick Groat and Bob Uecker.

The Reds put a former major league pitcher label on several others as they sent Jim Duffalo, Dick Stigman, Roland Sheldon and Dom Zanni shuffling off to their Buffalo farm club.

Joe Nuxhall, the youngest player ever to appear in a major league game at 15, left of his own accord, retiring at the age of 39 to become a sportscaster.

Kansas City bunched up pitchers Diego Segui, Jim Dickson and Dick Joyce and catcher Rene Lachemann and sent them to Vancouver.

The Mets played the good guys, welcoming Ralph Terry, another former 20-game winner, to their roster after a good performance Saturday. But they dropped pitchers Tug McGraw and Rob Gardner and catcher Johnny Stebbins.

Sammy Ellis, Curt Simmons and Juan Pizarro joined Terry with good shows Sunday as they tried to erase lackluster seasons in 1966, but Camilo Pascual's comeback took a turn for the worse.

Ellis, a 9-game loser last season, allowed two hits in five innings and combined with 18-year-old rookie Gary Nolan for a five-hitter that beat Philadelphia 2-0 at Tampa, Fla., as the spring training season moved into its final week.

Simmons allowed one run and three hits in seven innings as the Chicago Cubs dropped California 3-2 in Palm Springs, Calif.

Pizarro, bothered by arm trouble last year, limited the New York Yankees to three runs in seven innings and his Pittsburgh teammates clobbered the Yankees 9-3 at San Juan, P.R. Donn Clendenon hit two homers as he and Gene Alley each knocked in four runs. Mickey Mantle hit his first homer of the spring for the Yankees.

Pascual, also injury-ridden in 1966, fared poorly against Minnesota, his former club, as the Twins bombed him for six runs and beat the Washington Senators 9-6 at Orlando, Fla.

The Los Angeles Dodgers and Houston Astros, playing like the regular season already has begun, struggled through 17 innings in the Astrodome before Dick Schofield tripled and scored on Claude Raymond's wild pitch for a 4-3 Dodger victory.

The Astros tied the game 3-3 on homers by Rusty Staub and Jim Wynn, while the Dodgers went hitless for 11 innings following Wes Parker's three-run double in the fourth inning.

Bob Gibson hit a two-run homer and allowed one hit and struck out 10 in six innings, leading the Cardinals to a 2-0 triumph over Kansas City at Bradenton, Fla.

Rookie Reggie Soth and George Scott each homered and drove in five runs between them as Boston swamped the Mets 8-2 at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Baltimore's seven runs in the fourth inning routed Atlanta 8-1 at Miami, Fla., as Jim Palmer pitched five innings of three-hit, one run baseball.

Al Kaline capped a four-run seventh inning with a two-run double and Detroit trimmed the Chicago White Sox 7-5 at Sarasota, Fla.

Archer Retains Poise To Snare Top Golf Purse

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — "How would you like to be leading this tournament and learn you had to play your last round paired with Arnold Palmer and Doug Sanders?"

That's what one gallery member asked his buddy Sunday before the last round of the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament in which George Archer found himself playing with Palmer and Sanders.

"I'd probably blow up," was the reply.

Well, Archer didn't blow up. He maintained his poise and the lead by shooting a 68 over the par 71 Sedgewood Country Club course.

It gave him a 72-hole total of 267, 17 under par and two shots better than the old record, for first prize money of $25,000 in the $125,000 event.

It also earned for him an invitation to the Masters Tournament opening Thursday at Augusta, Ga.

Archer, a 27-year-old four-year pro whose only previous pro tour victory was the Lucky International at San Francisco, his home town, two years ago, was two shots ahead of Sanders, a 64 finisher for a 269 worth $15,000.

Palmer shot a 66 for third at 271, good for $9,375 to make him the first to go over $80,000 in official winnings. He also took over this year's money lead at better than $54,000.

Archer three-putted the first hole, for his only bogey, and had to make two late birdies to reach the turn in 35, one under, to retain a two-shot lead over the charging Sanders and Palmer, two of the finest and most popular golfers on the tour.

They both turned in 31 and the pressure was on the leader.

But Archer picked up two back nine birdies to withstand a third-birdie finish by Sanders, the defending champion. Palmer finished erratically, with three birdies, three pars and three bogeys.

The day produced a tournament record 33-30-63 by John Schlee, Phoenix, Ariz., pro in his second year on the tour. He finished tied for eighth at 277 to win $3,687.50.

Dave Stockton, tied with Archer for the 54-hole lead, drove into the woods for a first-hole double bogey. He never regained his earlier form and finished with 74 for 273 and fourth place worth $6,250.

Charlie Siffert's 68 for 274 meant fifth place and $5,375.

Nuxhall Quits Baseball Game

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pitcher Joe Nuxhall has hung up his spikes and glove for good to become a broadcaster of Cincinnati Reds baseball games.

The veteran southpaw retired from baseball Saturday with a record that sets him apart from thousands of other players: the youngest ever to participate in a major league game.

Nuxhall, now almost 39, was only 15 years old when he went to the mound for the Reds on June 10, 1944, to pitch against the St. Louis Cardinals, who were leading 13-0.

He lasted only two-thirds of an inning. He faced five batters and gave up five runs on two hits and five bases on balls.

Nuxhall spent all but one of his 15 years in the majors with the Reds. He was with Kansas City in 1961 and also was with the Los Angeles Angels briefly in 1962. The Reds got him back later that year.

His lifetime record was 135 victories against 117 defeats.

Sports Car Battle Royal Looming After Ford Makes Great Comeback

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — With Ford shaking off months of frustration over its J car, a battle royal for the world sports car championship is in prospect, the next showdown coming in the 24-hour race at Le Mans, France, June 10-11.

"There is no more J car," driver Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., declared with emphasis after he and New Zealand's Bruce McLaren won the 12th Sebring sports car race Saturday night.

"This is the Ford Mark IV," Andretti said. "It is a great improvement."

Ford wrested the world title from Ferrari last year with its Mark II, but nothing stands still in big time sports car racing.

Enzo Ferrari, the Italian genius, came out with a new 12-cylinder P4 this year and began the 1967 season in February with a 1-2-3 sweep in the Daytona Continental while six Ford Mark II's suffered an embarrassing series of breakdowns.

Ford wasn't ready then with its new J car. It hadn't lived up to expectations and chief driver Ken Miles had been killed testing it.

Finally, in its racing debut here, it had a new streamlined body, mechanical revisions and a new name.

It was ready. Andretti, the hottest American driver of 1967, and the super-killed McLaren covered a record 238 laps of 5.2 miles each — 10 more than Miles and Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., drove in winning in 1966 — and boosted the record speed nearly five miles an hour to 102.923.

The only major challenger was a Texas-built Chevrolet-powered Chaparral which Mike Spence of England drove to a lap record 111.022 m.p.h. before a differential seal broke and eliminated it, halfway through the endurance test.

Ferrari passed up Sebring, possibly because of a lawsuit based on an accident killing four spectators last year. A Ferrari was involved in the wreck although it was not the death car.

Ford moved into the lead for the manufacturers' championship with the nine points it got plus three at Daytona. Ferrari has nine.

While the Mark IV was winning by a comfortable 12 laps, A. J. Foyt of Houston, and Ruby squeezed a Ford Mark II into second place, eight seconds over a Porsche driven by Gerhard Mitter of Germany and Scooter Patrick of Manhattan Beach, Calif.

Foyt had the Mark II 25 minutes ahead when the engine froze, and it spent the last 23 minutes in the pit.

After checking the rules, Porsche manager Hueschke von Hanstein accepted third place with a philosophical "after all, who can complain about third place with our cars."

Fords and Chaparrals have big 7-liter engines; Porsche a 2-liter power plant.

Another Porsche, driven by Hans Hermann of Germany and Jo Siffert of Switzerland, was fourth over a protest by Italian ace Umberto Maglioli.

Maglioli insisted the Ford GT40 be and fellow Italian Nino Vaccarella drove went 224 laps instead of the 223 credited. It was placed 15 seconds behind the fourth place car and officials rejected the protest.

Fourth or fifth made no difference in money. Each earned $750. The winner got $7,000; second $3,250 and third $3,000.

Christianity Described As Under Huge Threat

A nationally distinguished lay Catholic leader, executive editor Dale Francis of Our Sunday Visitor magazine, told the banquet session of the Marquette Diocese Council of Catholic Women at Holy Name High School Saturday night that we live in challenging and dangerous times — for the world and for the church.

The 18th annual convention of the Catholic Women in the weekend attracted a capacity assembly of 400 from throughout the Upper Peninsula and was the largest on record. Hundreds more could not be accommodated.

Francis' proposed solution to the problems that beset the church was for Christians to be saints. "The lives of only 40 men who have lived as long as I reach back to Christ," said Francis. "The world has not changed in fundamentals since then; human nature is the same. We are looking backward at real people and yet some are looking back as though nothing good had ever happened before."

Saints Today
"Many great saints lived before us, but there are saints in our own time and in our own parish. Those who show the greatest love for God are often those who show the most love for their fellow men."

"There is a need for renewal in the Church because so many are not being reached and the world is escaping from Christianity. But we are in a place of real danger. The time of renewal can become one for destructive revolution; some people are moving outside the Christian church. A Baptist editor has said that there was not the ferment at the Reformation that there is now. It is happening everywhere and because, I believe, people do not understand that to be a Christian requires the practice of Christianity among our brothers."

"The Christian doctrine is that we must be Christ in all men."

Most Dangerous
Francis said that the transcendancy of God is being questioned by persons who conceive of Christianity as a fraternity of men. This questioning whether Jesus Christ founded the Christian Church is the most dangerous thing for Christianity today, said Francis.

"Writer after writer in Catholic papers and magazines looks at it (Christianity) as though it came from a professor of theology. They forget that this (the Pope) is the vicar of Christ."

"Some are saying that Christians are going to be dispersed over the world in small groups, like the Jews were, and that they will have no influence. Christianity and God. It is quite possible, but we pray that it may not happen, and I think it is possible to prevent it if men turn to God."

Threat To Faith
"We approach a time when we can't permit ordinary Catholics. If there are only ordinary Catholics in the world we'll have literally millions of people leaving the church. We can't afford mediocrity; we must have saints; totally committed persons who must serve God in the world; who will be Catholic in a revolutionary sense of seeing Christ in all men; who will help all those about them, who will despise what hurts people."

"We live in a time of ferment and we can't go back; we must hold to a true course, or in 5 to 20 years there may be millions who will lose the faith and Christianity may be isolated in little pockets. We can only be saints if one person is willing and that one person is you."

Mrs. Frank J. Mioni of Ironwood, president, presided at the sessions. Speakers included the Most Rev. Bishop Thomas L. Noe, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Dunleavy, Most Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican, deanery host; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Wilbur Gibbs and Rev. Donald Shiroda.

MDCCW Directors include Mrs. Walter McClintock, Repulic; Mrs. Alban Schumacher, Menominee; Mrs. Anton Steinmetz, Houghton; Mrs. Andrew Bednar, Ironwood; and Mrs. John T. Bennets, Ironwood.

Claim MR-A Control
And most islanders figure MR-A controls a hard core block of 180 votes that will swing the tide for Smith.

Smith, who took around the mainland in a sleek motorcycle in his spare time, argues that "MR-A people have nothing to do with city government at all. They have their own standards and don't interfere," he says, adding: "I think they're an asset to the island."

"The college — though it is far-fetched — is a good thing. I really don't know why I'm running again," he said. "I thought I was through with politics on the island, but a lot of people — friends — urged me to run."

Pro - O'Brien people suspect that if Smith is elected, he will resign leaving the reigns of government in the hands of Robert Doud, mayor pro-tem and hotel owner, whom they claim is pro MR-A.

"They can try but they won't get by with it," says O'Brien. "I'll get an injunction against them and force them to hold another election."

Other winners included four pupils from Corney, Ray Giguere, Gerald Guard, Connie Jacobs and Melvin Buckmaster.

So little natural gravel exists in watery East Pakistan that workmen laboriously hammer bricks into walnut-size chunks to use in concrete.

Escanaba Boy Science Winner
MARQUETTE — Students from Sault Ste. Marie, Houghton and Munising high schools won the top awards at the 13th annual Northern Michigan Science Fair held Saturday at Northern Michigan University.

Some 500 people viewed the 50 exhibits which dealt with studies ranging from hurricanes to the sociological behavior of mice.

Among the winners was Jay Bradshaw of Escanaba Junior High School who was awarded second place in the boys category grades 7, 8 and 9 for his study of Crystal Growing.

Other winners included four pupils from Corney, Ray Giguere, Gerald Guard, Connie Jacobs and Melvin Buckmaster.

Faith Reminded About 'Justice'

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Wilbur Gibbs of Newberry, who served the Catholic Church as a missionary in Venezuela, told the Marquette Diocese Council of Catholic Women in Holy Name High School gym Sunday morning that the Christian world is at a historic decision point.

Christians, he said, cannot be good Christians any more with a stay-at-home outlook.

"If we are going to move forward in healing this uncontrollable epidemic of society with basic international justice and development, we must be concerned with three fundamental factors in alleviating world pain degeneration:

"1. In Latin America there is desperate need for rapid social change. Concentration of powers and wealth in the hands of a few, brought a situation in which too many humans cannot live with dignity."

"2. The best tradition of our country, of which we as Christians are proud, stands for freedom and justice for all. We have worked to achieve a tolerable justice at home; we have proclaimed to the world that we stand for freedom and justice. Yet today three situations cause men around the world to wonder about us: The racial situation at home, the war in Vietnam, and the Church."

"The racial situation has always been a contradiction of our claims about liberty and justice. In the friendly countries in Asia they wonder if our massive military involvement in Vietnam reveals a devotion to freedom or a determination to enforce our national will at a moral and human cost which is too high?"

"And the Church should certainly not respond as it has to the need for a changed relationship between the U.S. and Latin America. Now, thank God, there is a new dimension and concern about our brothers in the underdeveloped and developing countries."

"Evangelizing our central witness must be done in terms which clearly affect men's lives. And these terms are social. We are by no means clear and agreed on the content of our U.S. Christian response to rapid social change; we must hammer that out. We have to transcend a merely Catholic, or Orthodox or Protestant witness and policy. Let us listen to one another and not think of doing something for Latin America or for Asia but act as God would have us do."

"What do Catholics here think the world is like? That it is divided into good guys (us) and bad guys (the communists) and that everything should be agreed accordingly? That is imperialism. Our dialogue about Christian response to Latin America should begin. If we must work as U.S. Christians in the United States, we must also have a task in Latin America."
